Sifu's Corner

Summer's over and it's back to school for our children with the hope for a year full of learning and growth.

Our heartfelt passion and commitment at Zai Martial Arts is to the life-skills education that provide your children with the tools to learn and do well at school.

We believe that martial arts and the life-skills it offers should go hand-in-hand with a child's education to help them be their best. We strive to instill in our parents that studying martial arts should be just as important as their education. Studies have proven that children who study martial arts get better grades. They learn and practice focus consistently in all their classes, which is key to being a good learner. So as you plan your child's schedule for the year, we hope that their martial arts training ranks right up there with their education.

I say this from firsthand experience; I've studied martial arts since childhood. It has given me the discipline and focus to excel at every grade. It has taught me to never give up when learning was challenging. Martial arts has provided me with good work ethics and study habits. It has empowered me with tools to succeed at learning.

I believe martial arts are one of the best investments you can make for your child's development. I believe that one day when they are attending a college like Stanford, Cornell or USC, you will be able to look back and be grateful for the gifts you gave your child which was a combination of good parenting, quality education, and martial arts.

Much respect,

Sifu Zai
